GOD IS A RACIST

Invariably, it seems, whenever certain people have any kind of grievance against someone of a different colour they immediately cry racist. And no one today wants to be considered guilty of this heinous crime. To be a racist in today's politically correct climate is almost tantamount to committing the unforgivable sin. In fact it is now very dangerous to differentiate between the various races on the grounds of colour or race, despite the fact that until a few decades ago there was no such sin as racism. We are now in the midst of a worldwide campaign to integrate the different races by powerful forces determined to destroy Christian civilisation in defiance of the God-ordained separation of the races into homogeneous groups. For God “made from one blood every nation of men to dwell upon the face of the earth, and has determined their appointed times and the boundaries of their habitation”.

An Extended Family

Well, just what is a race? Is it a group of biologically related individuals, as in a family. In fact, a race is an extended family. Consequently, just as it is healthy and natural to feel a bond of love and loyalty with your own family, because they are kin to you, it is also natural to feel a bond of loyalty to your own race, your extended family because they are kin to you. It is also natural to feel loyalty toward your own race rather than for other races. This doesn't mean that you try to hurt other families. Nevertheless, you DO look out for the interests of your own family and your own race first. We live in a world of diminishing natural resources, growing population and less land. As a result it is natural to ensure that your family, your kin and your race are fed first. So, that natural loyalty for your own kind sometimes extends in a way that must affect the exclusions or detriment of other races. Otherwise if you believe that all families are equal to your own and had an equal right to everything of yours, then all your neighbours would forever be camped in your living room eating your groceries. Such an example of this is frequently found among some races where many layabouts often sponge on their relatives even for days and sometimes for weeks. It even becomes a way of life.

Diversity

Race is an integral part of life and recognition of oneself involves acceptance of one's racial identity. In fact, race has great significance for the moral sanctity and purpose of each individual. People belong to various races, as trees belong to different varieties. It is not a matter of raising one race above another or contempt of others, but of recognising the divine imprint on each race and God's purpose for each of us. Contrary to modern belief, God believes in diversity. Diversity is the strength of a society and the protection of diversity can only be attained by keeping the various diverse elements separated. If diversity is society's strength, then the amalgamation of the races is society's greatest weakness. When everyone is cast into a great melting pot, all diversity is destroyed. The Lord loves all His Creation and the orderly arrangement He created it in. We see God's order in the plant and animal kingdoms. The humming bird does not breed with blue bird; a bass does not breed with a trout; a pine tree does not pollinate with an oak. Of all the various species of plants and animals the norm is segregation.

All the Same

The problem is that misguided Christian denominational religious orders in this and other Western countries leaders have convinced their followers there is no longer any such thing as race---that we are all the same, equal in every way. They stand condemned into denying the obvious. The most commonly used text is Galatians 3:28: There is neither Jew nor Greek; there is neither bond nor free; there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus.” The common argument is that God takes no cognisance of race, that all racial distinctions are done away. In other words, God is colour-blind. However, these same objectors hold strong views about the Jews and their future; and they speak of the present age as the Times of the Gentiles (which they interpret as “non-Jew”) implying marked distinctions. It seems that they are quite prepared to hold the Jews up as separate and distinct, holy and chosen above all others.

In Christ Jesus

How much misunderstanding seems to exist as to the meaning of the words “in Christ Jesus”. The true meaning is surely that in the matter of Salvation there is no difference between those who are Jews or anyone else, because all have sinned and are under condemnation and deliverance is only in the Son of God. Being a “new creature” does not depend upon any question of geography, social position or sex but only on being in Christ---that is, an anointed people belonging to Jesus. Observe that the verse does not deny that there were differences between these. In fact the distinction is fully admitted. The only point here emphasised is that, though so different in all other respects, we are spiritually one in the Lord. The Apostle Paul was dealing with purely spiritual matters. Unfortunately many have applied his words to cover everything as if God considered only the spiritual phase of human existence and altogether ignored the realities of man’s temporal life.

Neither Male nor Female

The verse goes onto say that there is neither male nor female. This is true in the spiritual sphere, but does a Christian refuse in social life to recognise the difference? While God sees no distinction between male and female in the matter of salvation, in regard to this life on earth He prescribes the separate duties of each showing there are essential differences. Similarly, God emphatically shows His view in racial distinctions. He still takes cognisance of races and nations. He has a plan and purpose for each of us as individuals.

A Common Faith

Our present policy of welcoming people of different races and religions in large numbers is an attack on the spiritual unity of the nation. No society can hang together if it lacks the basis of a common faith to underpin its value system. To ignore this fundamental truth is to commit cultural and national suicide. Instead of succumbing to the political doctrine of multiculturalism, which is quite contrary to God’s will, we must begin to recognise that Christianity has been the very life-blood of our nation that has produced freedom, stability, prosperity and the quintessential Australian character. Therein lies the solution to the precarious path to national disintegration which are driving us now.

PRAYER

Lord God Almighty, eternal Father and Creator, hallowed be Your name. Omniscient Father, as blood-bought watchmen, we yield to Your Holy Spirit of Life to thank You for the finished work of Christ on the cross. He triumphed over all the principalities and powers of the evil one to spiritually set us free to walk in Christ’s faith empowered by His Spirit within us. Sovereign Lord, we acknowledge that Your law is perfect reviving the soul. Your statutes are trustworthy making wise the simple, Your precepts are right giving joy to the heart and Your commands are radiant giving light to our souls. Spirit of the Great I AM, we thank You for anointing and empowering us to fervently pray to enlarge Your Family of Faith to preach Christ’s salvation message to the poor and lost, to proclaim freedom for the prisoners, to release the oppressed and recovery of sight for the blind to genuinely repent to proclaim the message: “God is a Racist”. Thank You, Lord for the wonder working power of Your precious blood to wash and cleanse everyone of us including all our leaders and citizens of all our iniquities, unbelief, rebellion, pride and unrepentance. Finally, dear Father, we enthrone JESUS CHRIST as King of kings and Lord of lords in His coming Kingdom of Righteousness, Love, Joy and Peace on this earth to the glory of Almighty God. Amen.
